BLAME WARRING GANGS FOR BOMBING OF CLUB

(International News Service)
CHICAGO, March 1.—Warring gang interests battling for the spoils of the downtown liquor trade today were blamed for the dynamite blast which wrecked the Club Algiers, smart Gold Coast night club, and threw twenty-five fashionably dressed couples into a panic last night.

The revelers, composed largely of members of Chicago's social elite, were gathered for the gayest evening in the night club's history—it's last party before a Federal padlock was to be applied.

The bomb, police believe, was the warning of gangsters that "Cock-eyed" Mulligan Albin and his Club Algiers must stay out of the loop, where he intended to move.

Wild disorder followed. Tables were knocked over and the patrons attempted to flee through the scattered debris.

John W. Wood, a bond broker, was struck by a piece of debris. Many of those who received minor cuts and bruises were hurried to nearby physicians for treatment.

Windows in nearby buildings were shattered by the force of the blast.

Dr. James H. Snook Pays With Life In Chair At Columbus

Ex-College Professor Without Sign Of Emotion Calmly Accepts Death In Electric Chair

KILLED THEORA HIX ON JUNE 13, 1929

Wife True To End, Spends Last Few Hours With Husband; Long Legal Case Ended

(International News Service)
COLUMBUS, Ohio, Mar. 1.—Dr. James Howard Snook, former Ohio State University professor, and slayer of his "paramour sweetheart" Theora Hix, 23 year old medical student, paid with his life in the electric chair here shortly after 7 o'clock last night for the brutal murder that he committed on June 13, 1929.

Without visible emotion the ex-college professor walked the few last steps to the death chamber where the officials were waiting to exact the penalty for an impulsive desire to slay.

"Peace With God" Snook never faltered during the short walk from his cell to the death chamber, he walked with an easy stride and head erect. He entered the death chamber looking straight ahead apparently ignoring the spectators in the crowded death room. He did not speak. His last words had been: "I have made absolute peace with my God."

Mrs. Snook, after saying farewell to her husband before the death march began, was led from the prison by two friends. She had difficulty dodging reporters and a crowd that had gathered outside. She had remained true during the long ordeal of trial and imprisonment.

Ends Long Battle The execution of Dr. Snook ended a long legal battle which began last August after a jury found him guilty of murdering Miss Hix, with whom he carried on a lengthy romance.

An appeal for a new trial was denied August 26, and although the court of appeals upheld the conviction the Ohio supreme court granted a reprieve to December 20, pending a review of the case. Another stay was granted to January 31.

Tuesday the Supreme Court refused to interfere and Gov. Myers Cooper denied a reprieve or commutation of sentence Thursday.

Miss Hix was murdered on June 13, 1929 on the Columbus Rifle Range. She had been beaten on the head and was mutilated with a knife. Snook was taken into custody and after a long grilling confessed the murder.

Little Progress In Six Weeks Of Naval Conference

Washington Becomes Pessimistic Over Success Of London Reduction Parley

SENATOR DEMANDS DELEGATES RECALL

Five Great Powers No Nearer Agreement On Naval Reducing Than When Conference Opened

By GEORGE R. HOLMES
International News Service Staff Correspondent

WASHINGTON, March 1.—The sixth week of the London Naval Conference ended today with the five great powers that compose it apparently no nearer an agreement than they were when it started.

In fact, so pessimistic has Washington become over the delays, obstacles, and general course of the conference that there are many here who contend it has gone backward from its goal instead of toward it.

Recall Demanded This feeling of pessimism, duly noted in these dispatches, is particularly apparent in the senate where it reached the surface yesterday in an open demand from Senator McKellar (D) of Tennessee, that the American delegation be recalled.

McKellar contended the conference has already failed of the purpose for which President Hoover and Premier MacDonald initiated it, i. e., actual naval reduction, and that such being the case the United States would do well to withdraw. Furthermore, the Tennesseean professed a vast distrust of some of the bargaining that has been going on in London, and expressed the belief that the American navy would come out at the little end of the horn.

Views Are Shared. No other senator spoke in support of McKellar's view, but it is well known that not a few of his colleagues, both Republican and Democratic, privately share his views. And it was of more than passing significance that only one senator, and he a comparative newcomer, ventured to reply publicly to McKellar's sweeping indictment of the whole business in London. The administration wheel horses, usually quick to defend administration policy, were silent.

The "big navy" contingent in the senate, which is a powerful and considerable factor, were further perturbed today by dispatches from London reporting that the American delegation, in negotiations with the Japanese, (Continued On Page Two)

USE DYNAMITE TO END KILLING SPREE OF MANIAC

(International News Service)
DEFIANCE, O., Mar. 1.—Two dead and three wounded was the toll today of a sensational four-hour battle between a maniac and a posse of police, sheriff officers, and national guardsmen staged last night.

The battle came to a close only after the house where the man was barricaded was dynamited. The dead are Hubert Floehr, 60, the maniac, and his wife Augusta, 55.

The wounded: Karl A. Weaver, chief of police and Newell Littlefield, 22, of Newport, Me., senior in Defiance College; and William Chappel, 35, a salesman.

Three thousand persons gathered to witness the battle which was without parallel here. The officers used pistols, revolvers, machine guns, gas bombs and even brought in a 37 millimeter national guard gun. Floehr, a former inmate of the Toledo State hospital for the insane was armed with a shotgun, rifle and revolver.

After futile attempts were made to force the maniac from the house, ten sticks of dynamite were tied together and tossed through an open window. A section of the roof was blown off. Mrs. Floehr's body lay on the kitchen floor and the maniac was found dead. He had killed himself with his last bullet fired through his head.

Littlefield and Chappel were shot when they got too close to the house while aiding officers.

Great Fishing Industry Will Be Seriously Crippled As Result Of Blaze

(International News Service)
ST. JOHN'S, N. E., March 1.—One half of the waterfront of Grand Bank, the largest town of the west coast of Newfoundland was in ashes today, following the most disastrous fire in the history of the town which raged practically throughout the night.

The first incomplete messages from the stricken town made no mention of casualties. Grand Bank is the headquarters for the fishing fleets which conduct the great fishing industry off the Grand Banks. The wiping out of the waterfront section of the town, it was believed, would seriously cripple this industry.

Among the larger structures razed were the premises of J. B. Patten; J. Foote & Sons, and Harris Company, all big export concerns in the fish industry.

In addition, several nearby stores and one large fishing schooner were destroyed. The cause of the fire had not been determined.

Both the men lived at Frackville, near the mine, where Evans had been active in baseball and basketball circles. He was formally manager of the Frackville basketball team of the South American league.

ROGERS PICTURES TAFT AS "GREAT HUMAN FELLOW"

(Special To The News)
BEVERLY HILLS, Cal., March 1.—Mr. Taft, what a lovely old soul he has been, fat and good natured.

You know, of all our presidents that this generation knew, some we felt we didn't know; some we admired their great ability; some we had great faith in; and all of them to us symbolized the great office they occupied.

But just as a man, and a real honest-to-God fellow, Mr. Taft will go to his grave with more real affection and less enemies than any. He always seemed like he was one of us.

It's great to be great, but it's greater to be human. He was our great human fellow because there was more of him to be human.

We are parting with 300 pounds of solid charity to every body, and love and affection for all his fellow men.

Yours,
WILL ROGERS.

PA NEW OBSERVES

It looks to Pa New as if March made its debut this morning very much in the role of a lamb. According to the old saying, there will be some tough weather before the arrival of April.

Tonight is the last night of the auto show and the industrial exposition at the cathedral. If you haven't been in attendance as yet, better look the show over. It's more than worth while.

Some of the street lights about the city have already been replaced with lights of increased power, Pa New notes. This is being done under the provisions of the new lighting contract. The increased candlepower for the curb lighting systems will be a big improvement as the curb lighting systems have never been exactly right.

New drivers' licenses are required of all auto drivers here today. The 1929 permits expired with the last day of February.

Apparently the plan for turning the traffic light out earlier in the evening has already been put into effect. The light was turned off last night, about 10 o'clock. There is no need for the traffic signal after 10 o'clock at night, it is believed.

Taft Clings To Shred Of Life

Only Remarkable Physique Has Kept Ex-President Taft Alive Past Few Days

DEATH IS ONLY MATTER OF HOURS

(International News Service)
WASHINGTON, Mar. 1.—Though his renowned smile has faded, his even semi-conscious periods are less frequent, William Howard Taft, only American to achieve both the presidency and the chief justiceship, clung tenaciously to life today as members of his immediate family were enroute to the bedside of the 73 year old patient.

The passing of his picturesque figure, physicians declare, is but the matter of hours—perhaps days; as many as five, only his remarkable physique has enabled him to withstand the attack of a bladder trouble, hardening of the arteries and, recently, of a weakened heart.

Last night, Taft spent in comfort and apparently restless as opiate have long been administered, his physicians report. He recognized one of his physicians, Dr. Thomas A. Clayton, and his eyes lighted momentarily. Earlier yesterday his son Robert A. Taft, arrived from Cincinnati, and was recognized by his father when he spoke, but there was no other response.

The patient was reported as resting quietly at 4:45 o'clock this morning, with no apparent change in his condition.

Among the callers were supreme court justices Sanford and Stone, Mrs. Charles MacVeagh, wife of the former ambassador to Japan, and Mrs. Dolly Gann, sister of vice-president Charles Curtis.

New Low Grade Line; New York To Chicago; Is Program Of B. & O.

(BULLETIN)
(International News Service)
WASHINGTON, March 1.—The Baltimore & Ohio railroad today authorized to give it control of the Buffalo & Susquehanna railroad to enable it to set up a new low grade line between New York and Chicago.

The commission has already authorized it to take over the Buffalo, Rochester & Pittsburgh as one of the components in the proposed trunk line. The commission's general consolidation plan allocated both of these lines to the B. & O.

"From the standpoint of the B. & O. the plan for the through line is important in that it enables us to secure by the expenditure of $15,000,000 for 75 miles of new line in Central Pennsylvania a more effective and economical line for the handling of an important part of our through traffic," Daniel Willard, told the commission in a brief.

"It will also avoid the necessity for the expenditure of much larger amounts elsewhere, relieving our line through Pittsburgh and Baltimore of a part of the East and West traffic and affording greater facilities for a part of the East and West traffic from Pittsburgh and the South to Baltimore and from the West through Baltimore to Philadelphia, New York and the North," he said.

The plan of the B. & O. to acquire the Buffalo & Susquehanna was attacked today by the Delaware & Hudson.

"The mere allocation of the Reading, Buffalo & Susquehanna and the B. & O. to the same system, by the complete consolidation plan does not afford a basis for a decision favorable to the applicant in this proceeding," L. F. Lore's road told the commission.

It was set forth there was absence of any proof the B. & O. had a right (Continued On Page Two)

FARM BOARD IS PREPARED TO ACT

By WILLIAM K. HUTCHINSON,
International News Service Staff Correspondent

WASHINGTON, March 1.—The Federal Farm Board through its grain stabilization corporation, was prepared today to buy 50,000,000 bushels of wheat, if necessary, to stabilize the American wheat market.

This stupendous plan of relief for the wheat farmer has the almost unanimous endorsement of administration leaders on Capitol Hill. Indeed administration Republicans vied with Democrats and Insurgents in the board's efforts to stabilize the price of wheat.

With this support, Alexander H. Legge, chairman, was in Chicago on "war front," taking personal charge of the board's battle against "bearish speculators." Before he left Washington, Legge was told by administration leaders to spend every dollar of the $50,000,000 available if it were needed to stabilize the grain market. He was told to "go the limit."

Premier Berenguer Orders Officials Take Precaution To Prevent Revolts And Unrest

STRIKE ADDS TO DISCOMFITURE

By TOMAS LOAYZA, International News Service Staff Correspondent
MADRID, March 1.—The government of Premier Berenguer today ordered all officials to take drastic measures to repress disorderly demonstrations which "though unimportant would be likely to cause unrest."

At the same time it was officially denied the premier was contemplating instituting martial law in those sections of Spain where unrest is most prevalent.

Political meetings, the government note indicated, will be barred as the events of the last few days have shown that the country has not yet reached the stage where a political campaign could be undertaken calmly.

Anti-Monarchists Warned
Anti-Monarchists were warned to stop their propaganda for a republic. They were also warned that verbal attacks upon the king would not be tolerated.

The government, however, admitted the seriousness of the situation by expressing its regret that former Premier Jose Sanchez Guerra's speech Thursday should have been so bitter against the government and the king as to cause political uneasiness among the people which is likely to retard the return to normalcy.

A strike of 20,000 workers at Valencia added to the government's trouble today. The workers declared a 24 hour strike in sympathy with workers now striking in Sagunto.

Announces Today For Assembly Post

BART RICHARDS

In a formal announcement made today, Bart Richards, Representative in the General Assembly from the First District of Lawrence county, which is the city of New Castle, makes known his intention of again seeking the Republican nomination for the office, at the Republican primaries to be held Tuesday, May 20th. In his announcement he says:

"I am a candidate for the Republican nomination for the General Assembly, subject to the Republican primaries on May 20th. In the sessions of 1927 and 1929, it was my privilege to serve the City of New Castle as its representative, and the measure of success attained in that service I am willing to leave to the record."

"Lawrence county has but two members in the House of Representatives. One of these, the representative from the second district, outside the City of New Castle, will be new in the next session as the member who served in 1929, M. A. Bickett has removed from the county. It has been suggested that with such a small delegation in the House, it is to the advantage of the city and county to have one experienced member in the next session."

"Through the action of the session of 1929, Lawrence county got the most comprehensive road program it has ever received. In this road program was included approximately $75,000.00 for the use of the City of New Castle in maintaining streets, an appropriation never before received."

"This is merely a formal announcement and not intended as a recital of what was done in the past session. It is the citizens of this city believe that my previous service has been rendered honestly, and efficiently, if they believe that experience begets more efficiency, I respectfully place my name before them for the May primaries."

Directs Check On School Buildings

HARRISBURG, March 1.—Following a series of conferences held recently in the office of John G. Ziegler, chief of the section of school sanitation, during the recent convention of the school secretaries and school boards at the Capitol, a comprehensive check-up is now being made by personnel of that section on complaints which reached his office at that time.

"Contrary to general opinion," Ziegler said, "many school officials are themselves most interested in the improvement of housing and sanitary facilities in school buildings. While of course there are instances where it is necessary for the State Health Department to initiate action, there are many others where such action is started by school authorities themselves. From present indications, many improvements will be made during the spring and summer months to the present school buildings in addition to the construction of a number of new consolidated buildings which will be substituted for antiquated one school room structures."

HARRISBURG, March 1.—Of the 3621 entries in the recent State Fair Products Show 1927 were awarded prizes according to the show management.

Compared to the 1929 exhibition the number of entries in 1930 was greater in nine but less in seven departments. The most noticeable gains were in the egg, home economics, poultry, small grains and vegetable exhibits. The unfavorable 1929 growing season was reflected in the smaller number of entries of corn and potatoes.

Unemployed Plan For Big Parade

(International News Service)

NEW YORK, March 1.—A parade in which it was claimed today "at least 60,000 persons will march" will be staged here next Thursday as a climax to unemployment demonstrations throughout the United States.

Officials of the Trade Union League, sponsoring the protest, said 10,000 workers would call a general strike Thursday in order to be free to appear at the demonstrations.

Plans for the strike were to be made at a conference today and Sunday.

A statement was also given out by J. Louis Engdahl, general secretary of the International Labor Defense, charging 650 workers had been arrested within the last five days in various parts of the country for taking part in demonstrations. Engdahl said 440 were arrested in Chicago, 46 in San Francisco, 38 in Los Angeles and vicinity and 75 in New York.

anese, had tentatively offered to accept fifteen cruisers of the 10,000-ton, 8-inch gun class instead of the 21 or 18 which figured in the Hoover-MacDonald conversations on the Rapidan river last October.

Tongues Are Wagging.

Rear Admiral Hilary P. Jones, a strong champion at Geneva and London, for the large-type cruiser as best suited to American naval needs, has been the spokesman of the "big navy" group. He has now withdrawn from the conference and is enroute home. The ostensible cause of his withdrawal was ill health, but the "big navy" group were muttering in private today over the fact that the dispatches concerning the fifteen cruiser-proposal should have appeared within two days after Admiral Jones left London.

The reported American concession in the big cruisers is represented as a victory for Admiral Wm. V. Pratt, whose differences with Admiral Jones are of long standing and tinged with considerable acidity.

Similarly, the persistence with which rumors crop up and are cable from London that the American delegation is flirting with the idea of engaging in a security pact is disturbing to the senate irreconcilables. It is a reasonably safe prediction that no treaty embodying a security pact can be ratified in the senate.

London Report Discredited.

Reports from London that President Hoover would ultimately make the final decision as to American participation in a security pact are discredited here.

So far as is known, Mr. Hoover has not at any time committed himself on this matter. His friend says he is content to leave it to the delegation in London, upon which there are senators who were placed there because their knowledge of the senate presumably should equip them with knowledge of just how far they can go in this direction.

It was claimed that Mrs. Morrison had applied for a divorce, but had married again before it was granted. Her first husband had then made an information against her. He declared the coalition's "attack on protective rates would inevitably lead to a lowering of the American standards of living and to increasing unemployment for the workers in American industry." He charged the coalition was fighting the pending tariff bill for the purpose of blaming the Republican party for business conditions during the coming campaign.

The speech was the first prepared attack on the coalition in many weeks. Touching on the senate's refusal to increase industrial rates as the house had done, Goff said:

"If the rates affecting these industries are restored to their former ruinous levels some one has got to assume the responsibility before the people for increasing depression in these industries and for increasing unemployment for the workers in these industries. Here and now I charge the coalition with that responsibility."

Plans for the strike were to be made at a conference today and Sunday.

A statement was also given out by J. Louis Engdahl, general secretary of the International Labor Defense, charging 650 workers had been arrested within the last five days in various parts of the country for taking part in demonstrations. Engdahl said 440 were arrested in Chicago, 46 in San Francisco, 38 in Los Angeles and vicinity and 75 in New York.

Officials of the Trade Union League, sponsoring the protest, said 10,000 workers would call a general strike Thursday in order to be free to appear at the demonstrations.

STAR LORE

THE RESTLESS UNIVERSE

By Arthur De V. Carpenter

It is an amazing reality that all physical matter in the universe is in motion: The earth rotates on its axis and whirly whirling in its mighty orbit around the sun; the sun is sweeping majestically through the great disc like multitude of stars composing the galaxy; the galaxy is rotating around its center comparable to the rotation of the earth upon its axis; and the galaxy bears evidence that it, too, is sweeping as a cast whole through space. Even the infinitesimal atoms composing physical matter common to all planets and stars are in constant motion as related to themselves. There is nothing physical that is at rest!

Detective C. G. Logan and Officer Thomas Lynch answered the call and found evidence that the place had been broken into and entered, but apparently there had been nothing of value taken.

A rear cellar door had been broken out and the rear door was found open. The officers made the inspection with Mrs. Gardner, caretaker for Mrs. Craig. After inspecting everything possible, the officers locked and fixed up the place so that no person could get in pending inquiry made to the family residing there to determine if anything of value might be missing. ports to agree to limit this type of vessel to 15 before the whole 18 were built. The mind-changing process is now going on.

During the last week it is understood that the Americans and British resumed their discussions of battle-ships in an attempt to reach a tentative understanding, pending the finding of an agreement on other categories of naval vessels.

The project for a "super-Rodney" dreadnought for the United States has been practically abandoned, the Americans having suggested other means of achieving real parity with the Anglo-American fleets, in addition to the proposal for the British scrapping five ships and the Americans three in the near future.

An alternative to the United States construction of a "super-Rodney" dreadnought will probably be a suggestion for an amendment to the Washington treaty, permitting the United States to modernize some of her present battleships.

The attitude of other senators and congressmen was illustrated by Senator Watson (R) of Indiana, majority leader in the senate.

A Loss To The Nation.
Demanded Much, Got

An Ancient Dread.
Watch, And See A Fight.

By ARTHUR G. BRISBANE

Sad news for the nation Thursday when doctors announced that William Howard Taft might not live another day.

Mr. Taft was a kindly man, generous, tolerant and a man of power. There was great strength back of his friendly smile.

His life was a succession of honors, every one earned and well deserved.

Five hundred radicals, called "Reds" decided to parade in New York Thursday, protesting against lack of employment.

Red signs across a building in Union Square, next door to Tammany Hall, called upon workmen to get out and demonstrate.

Police gathered as the crowd was about to start and demonstrated. SUCCESSFULLY.

Reporters say many leaders were "battered" also that 180 uniformed men and 25 plainclothes detectives had instructions to "hit at the feet, not at the head."

A police captain had instructed his men "not to pile up a list of hospital cases."

The paraders had had no parade permit and were therefore gathered illegally. They started their parade about the City Hall.

Banners read:
"Workers, fight or starve! Demand work or wages."

"We refuse to starve."

"We say fight."

"We demand free rent for unemployed."

"We demand free food and clothing for our children."

"We demand unemployment insurance."

In this country we know nothing about the British "dole" for unemployed, and expect each man to shift for himself. The marchers were demanding a good deal.

However, it would be desirable in these cases to use the club as little as possible and to "pile up hospital cases" as few as possible.

We are a wonderfully rich, prosperous nation.

Many of us cannot even imagine what it is to be hungry or worried about our children. But something can always happen, and it is possible to start something that you can't stop.

Signals to protect pedestrians from automobiles are to be installed in big cities and "amber-colored lights" were suggested. The police say:

"Drivers will pay no attention to anything but Red. That makes them stop."

Why is it that red impresses men, and even the lower animals? Is it, perhaps, because men, for forty million years, and animals, through hundreds of millions of years before men came, have known and inherited the great dread, the red blaze of a forest or prairie fire?

The Rev. Dr. Ryan, professor in the Catholic University of America calls prohibition enforcement "Toryism," and says "The President is not the supreme arbiter of the moral duty of men."

President, reading that, will perhaps murmur that under our system of government, Father Ryan is not "the supreme arbiter of the moral duty of men either."

Prohibition promises to develop an interesting political fight. Watch, and wait, and you will see things not seen hitherto.

But do not believe that the prohibition amendment will be repealed. It will NOT.

John D. Rockefeller, Jr., says—and every well-informed man believes it, since Mr. Rockefeller tells the truth—that neither he nor his father caused the recent cut in crude oil prices.

They learned of such cuts from newspapers. The elder Mr. Rockefeller does not pull any strings from "behind the scenes," but probably follows what goes on with mild interest. Past 60 years of age, Mr. Rockefeller is interested in making his money useful. He has sailed the ocean of millions for many years. A few dollars waves more or less make as little difference to him as salt waves do to an old captain.

The president of the Pennsylvania Gen. Atterbury, head of one of the greatest railroad systems in the world, says prohibition should be repealed. Has not been a help to railroads, and has not affected men's discipline.

He includes "official corruption and youth's revolt" among prohibition evils.

Copper, silver, lead, zinc and other metallic minerals will be surveyed. But the greatest future for mineral wealth may, thinks Bradley, lie in the non-metals.

"California's mineral wealth is tremendous," said Bradley. "We know considerable about the metals. We know much less about another group of minerals that may mean very much to California's future, the so-called non-metals. The World AND THE Mud Puddles

SURFACE NOT EVEN SCRATCHED

A treasure hunt that may uncover billions in buried wealth is on it California.

It is a scientific treasure hunt manned by geologists under the direction of the State Mineralogist, Walter W. Bradley. It is the first geological survey conducted in that state since 1872.

The last California legislature made available a budget sum of $20,000 to begin the state geological survey. It will cover a period of ten years with recurring appropriations and will cost at least $500,000. But in the charting of mineral wealth in California, it will bring in many times the outlay.

Oil, Bradley says, leads all other minerals in wealth. By a comprehensive survey of possible oil structures many a dollar and heartache may be saved to hopeful wildcaters.

Gold that lies buried in the hills in quantities estimated in gravel beds alone at $600,000,000 will be made subject of a scientific hunt.

President's Tariff Demand Creates Conflicting Views

Responsibility For Deadlock On Legislation Is Subject Of Dispute, And Effect On Business Also Is Considered

President Hoover's demand for action by Congress on the long-delayed tariff bill furnishes the subject for vigorous discussion throughout the country. Opinions differ as to the responsibility for the delay, and as to the effect on business conditions.

"It appears a plainly conceded fact," according to the CHARLOTTE OBSERVER (Ind. Dem.), "that the Senate is playing the political tiddie, while the country is impatient for opportunity to go ahead with its business affairs. Organized opposition to the Hoover policies appears strong enough to thwart his intentions blind to the fact that it might be held responsible for any failure that could be charged against his administration, and alike regardless of the possible consequences to the people. The course of political wisdom might dictate the prompt putting through of all measures advocated by Mr. Hoover, so that responsibility would rest upon his shoulders for any failure in bringing the results the President aims at."

Another point of view is represented by the statement from the HARTFORD (Ind. Rep.): "Ill-judged is the propaganda intended to show that the failure to enact the tariff is slowing up business. On the same day that the Senate was accused of delaying the economic recovery of the country, Mr. Julius H. Barnes, the chairman of the National Business Survey Conference appointed by the President, reported that the end of the long depression beginning last fall was 'fairly over' and that the prospects for the immediate future were bright. In the opinion of Mr. Barnes, the improvement has been made possible by the collective common sense, the courage and the enterprise of all kinds of Americans, in business and out," who apparently made their plans and carried out their programs without reference to the Senate and the tariff.

"The tariff," Mr. Barnes is more nearly correct in his analysis of the situation than those who for one reason or another are eager to add to the odium in which the Senate is popularly held. Many business enterprises are little affected by the tariff, while those that are, long since realized that the trend of the rates was down, not up. Uncertainty of that disappeared months ago."

A report in the KANSAS CITY STAR, stating that the President is in favor of emphasis on an agricultural tariff, as upheld by the coalition of members of the two parties, has resulted in some comment. "The people have been privileged," states the PORT WORTH RECORD-TELEGRAM (Dem.), "to witness the first departure of the Executive from the system of allowing political nature to take its course. The President called the 'Republican Congressional leaders' into conference and informed them of the executive policy of the present time for the legislative to pass a tariff measure. The 'a' has been most aptly described by Senator Pat Harrison as 'one eliminating all but agricultural increases.' That is in contradistinction to the 'platform plank' bill, which provided tariff increase of every article which would regard the farmer as a 'consumer' but which totally ignored him as an actual or potential 'producer.'"

"The trouble with the Senate now," thinks the SAN FRANCISCO CHRONICLE (Ind.), "is that it contains so large a delegation of medicine men, a group large enough, when allied with the minority party, to obstruct and harass and to take considerable liberties with the progress and prosperity of the country as a whole. The alliance is, of course, accepted by the Democratic minority for the handling of the tariff which doctors are playing into its political hands. The DETROIT NEWS (Ind.), calling the situation 'pitiful,' suggests: 'Why not drop the tariff bill, wash it off the books, and forget it? It has been a bad measure from the beginning. Everybody who knows anything about the tariff knew that the way to benefit the farmers was not to

Mothers And Sons Banquet At Y.M.C.A.

Joy reigned in the banquet hall of the Young Men's Christian Association here last night when one hundred and thirty mothers and their boys assembled there for the sixth annual mothers' and sons' banquet festivities, held under the auspices of the local association.

Surpassing everything like it in past years, the banquet and program of last evening set up a record that similar banquets of future years will find difficult to beat. Arrangements clicked without hitch and it is doubtful whether a more spirited banquet was ever staged by the local "Y."

Decorated in gay festoon, the banquet room in itself added considerably to the success of the occasion. Orchestral music was furnished throughout the evening, with special numbers here and there, by the Ben Franklin Junior Hi-Y orchestra, furnished by Miss Eva E. Coulter and Daniel Raccapio, members of the school faculty.

A sumptuous menu had been prepared and members of the cafeteria staff served it with efficiency. Before and following the dinner pep songs were sung, with Prof. R. E. Johns as director.

As a toastmaster par excellence none could have fitted in better than young Robert Muse, son of Attorney and Mrs. George W. Muse. He it was who presided throughout the program and most ably, too. Young George and a humorous story for every one he introduced and the fashion in which he put the program across was remarkable. The way he handled the program would in itself spell success or the banquet.

Present among the guests to watch the youthful master of ceremonies play his role were his mother and brother, George Muse, Jr.

Francis Clark was the first presented to the audience. He favored with a saxophone solo, and was compelled to respond with an encore number. Albert Pionati, talented violinist, contributed a delightful classical number on that instrument. He too responded to a generous applause with a second number.

The Bible story final elimination contest for the Midget Bible class was an event which marked the banquet, and five different boys competed. Altogether 60 different stories had been told in the Midget contest up until last night and the five competing in the final were the survivors of several eliminations.

Those who took part were Nimer Habib, who recounted the story of the fiery furnace; Richard Cramer, who told the story of Joseph; Mike Nader, reviewing the account of Jonah and the whale; David Gatrall, who told the prodigal son story, and Victor Marino, giving the story of Sampson.

A committee of judges, R. E. Johns, Mrs. R. L. Meermans and Mrs. George Muse, after deliberating for some time finally decided that David Gatrall was deserving of first place honors with Mike Nader as second.

As a recognition of how he reviewed the story of the prodigal son, Gatrall was introduced and then presented a beautifully bound Bible, the gift of the Y. M. C. A. Mike Nader was presented a New Testament for winning second place.

Dr. C. J. Williamson, pastor of the Highland U. P. church, who was the speaker of the evening was next introduced by the youthful toastmaster, and George's reputation for having a comic story to tell didn't fail here.

"Mother and Son" was the theme of Dr. Williamson. He spoke of the mother and son in general at the beginning and then branched off to speak chiefly to the mothers. He pointed out the obligations that a mother has and those of the son to her. Mother love is a precious thing, he said, and he impressed upon his hearers the honor of being a mother.

In conclusion, he quoted great men such as Lincoln who gave all the credit of what they became and were to their mothers. To illustrate as best he could the importance of a mother, motion pictures showing the Y. M. C. A. summer camp along the Slippery Rock creek, taken while activity was at its height last summer, were shown through the courtesy of Jack Boyle.

This concluded the program and Toastmaster Muse brought the program to a close.

For six years mothers' and sons' banquets have been held, starting in 1924. A fathers' and sons' banquet, at which time the sons will do honor to their fathers, will occur on April 25.

It is wise to find out what a man is likely to do before stirring him to action.

Sometimes life seems to be just a proposition of finding the kind of trouble you can stand.

THE TOWN DOCTOR

"DOCTOR OF TOWNS" SAYS

THE CURSE OF ANY CONVICTION LIES IN NOT HAVING ENOUGH OF IT

I talked to a man the other day who said he was convinced that his was a good town, and that he had faith in it, but he was not enthusiastic about it. A case pure and simple where the "curse of the conviction" was in not having enough of it.

That is true with many people. Ask them what they think about the place where they live and they are of this opinion, and they guess something else, and like this man, are convinced of something, but they play around, dabbling their feet in the edge of the water, so to speak, instead of diving in.

Faith in a community is a fine thing, and "faith" they say, "can move mountains," but I like very much what Dr. Frank Crane said about it. He said, "the only faith that could move a mountain (and I add even an aunt-hill) is the faith that uses dynamite along with it."

I asked this man if he was in love with his town. He deliberately laughed at me and then said "Love is blind." That being the case I know many, many towns where most of the people must be head over heels in love with their community, for they are blind as the proverbial bat to its advantages; things that are actually driving business and people out of their town are staring them square in the face, but they do not see them.

There are many people, and perhaps you are one of them, who say there often is too much enthusiasm in community affairs—people get all excited over some particular thing, a new factory or booster campaign as an example, and that is all that ever comes of it. Everybody gets "all hot up," makes a big fuss and a lot of noise but that's all it ever amounts to.

Well, that often happens; but it isn't because of too much enthusiasm—it is just inability to control it.

That is natural—the desire to make a splash when you jump in the puddle is second nature with all of us, and it is legitimate, too.

The trouble usually is due to the fact that a few people, who really down deep in their hearts want to do something for the town, get an idea (and everything has to start with an idea, you know,) and it looks like a good thing. They start to put it over, have a public meeting or two and the papers, always willing and ready to do their part, give it a lot of space and you and everybody knows about it.

Then you say something to your neighbor, friend or fellow-worker about it. It looks o. k. to you and you say "what do you think about what these fellows are going to do?" and the other fellow says "there is nothing to it" or "it's a graft for those fellows to put something over," or "it's just a stunt for the birds that are selling it to make a lot of 'jack' out of it."

That cools you down. You see your conviction was good but you did not have enough of it to come back and say "what's the matter, you're sore cause you're not in on it and can't run it?" or "of course they are going to get something out of it, what do you suppose they are doing it for?" but I will get something out of it too and so will you IF it goes over, and I will have nothing more than I've got now if it doesn't.

Now if there are enough cases where folks who are at first convinced, but not enough so to stay convinced in the face of a few knucklers who crab everything regardless, or by remarks of those who do not stop to think, then these fellows who really wanted to do something, but cannot do it all themselves, get discouraged because you won't get behind and push the thing along; and when that happens the whole thing, no matter how good it was in the beginning, falls through.

So you see New Castle is somewhat like a flivver. Somebody has to turn on the switch and step on the starter. Then if there is gas in the tank, and you furnish the spark of enthusiasm when the spark is needed, the little old buggy will keep rolling along, going places with you a comfortable passenger.

Leaders Fail Andre Tardieu

Ex-Premiers Herriot and Chaumemps Fail To Accept Proffered Posts

TARDIEU HOPES TO GET CABINET

By FREDERIC K. ABBOTT International News Service Staff Correspondent

PARIS, March 1.—Premier-designate Andre Tardieu's attempt to conciliate party differences and form a cabinet based on a broad coalition as a "union of Republicans" has ended in failure, but he is continuing his efforts in the hope of succeeding despite all difficulties.

Tardieu admitted his failure to form a broad coalition in a statement to International News Service. He said: "I proposed a 'stop-gap government' including ex-Premier Herriot and vice president of the council ex-Premier Chaumemps and other ministers from the radical socialists.

"I also proposed that the cabinet thus formed should resign as soon as the London naval conference, the Geneva League of Nations sessions and the Saar valley negotiations with Germany were finished and the budget had been passed.

"They refused, however, and I am therefore continuing without them."

He added: "I hope to announce my cabinet on Sunday."

Unprecedented War Freely Predicted

(International News Service) LONDON, March 1.—"A war unprecedented in the history of the world will begin in a few days. Those who are afraid of death should go on a pilgrimage. Those who possess riches should go abroad."

With these words Vallabhai Patel, chief lieutenant of the Nationalist Indian leader Ghandi, opened the campaign of civil disobedience at Ahmadabad with which the Nationalists hope to force the British government to proclaim the independence of India, dispatches from India published by the evening newspapers here today stated.

Ticket Sale For Banquet Stopped Today

Incomplete Checkup On The National Commander's Banquet Is Made

Sale of tickets for the National Commander's banquet March 4 at the Cathedral was stopped this morning, owing to the fact that there is a tendency to approach the goal of two thousand people set as the limit of the number of people who can be present, and participate in the affair.

When it was found this morning that there was danger of the goal being exceeded, Attorney Glenn Berry, chairman of the ticket committee declared the sale of further tickets off and ordered every ticket salesman to turn those left into him.

The Lenten services include three next Wednesday, which is Ash Wednesday, the first day of Lent, and according to the observance of the Episcopal church for many centuries a day of strict fasting and prayer, namely: 9 a. m., morning prayer; 9:30 a. m., Litany, penitential office and holy communion; 8 p. m., Litany, penitential office and sermon; preacher, the rector.

Preparations have been completed for the visit of the bishop of Erie Sunday evening, always an important annual event. Big Auto Show Will Be Ended This Evening

Expect Attendance Records
To Be Shattered During Final Day Of Exhibit

ADDED ATTRACTIONS
ARE INTERESTING

Another record breaking crowd was in attendance on the second day of the great Automobile Show now being held in the Cathedral, around 1,500 people thronging the building yesterday afternoon and evening, exceeding the attendance of last year for the second day of the show.

It was an eager, orderly crowd which viewed the various exhibits which have been arranged in the big building, and favorable comments were frequently heard, commending the officers of the New Castle Auto Dealers Association who are responsible for the wonderful exhibition.

Not only was the auto show interesting, especially by the women folks, and the heads of the New Castle Dry Goods Co. were complimented on the fine exhibition they have arranged.

Quite a number of people visited the show during the afternoon, but the big crowd came in the evening, attracted by the added novelty of the style show.

At the conclusion of the style show Miss Dorothy Fletcher gave an exhibition of Spanish and tap dancing. The cars which had been placed in front of the raised stage, were moved back last evening enabling a larger crowd to view the style show and dance from a point of vantage.

The attendance this afternoon and evening is expected to be the largest of the show and is expected to run ahead of last year, when the closing day saw a mammoth throng in attendance.

A number of added attractions have been listed to make the visit of the people of New Castle and vicinity a worthwhile one.

The high school orchestra is furnishing the music this afternoon. The style show in its entirety will be given again this evening and following the show, Miss Alberta McCormick and Miss Dorothy Fletcher will entertain with their dances.

The industrial exhibit will again hold popular interest. Everyone who has seen it, has expressed himself as being amazed at its completeness.

Tonight will witness the windup of the show after which the exhibition will be history, but those who have seen it, will have something to talk about for many a day.

One of the objects of interest at the show, is a miniature automobile displayed by Jack Gerson. This was made entirely by Mr. Gerson and consists of a perfectly modeled machine set with jewels of various kinds. It is displayed under a spotlight and has attracted considerable attention. Girls from the Quota Club have been selling candy at the show and there are also several refreshment booths, for the convenience of the patrons.

Prayers Asked For Russian Christians

Persecution Has Become So
Flagrant That The Prayers
Of The World
Are Asked

Persecution of the Christians in Russia has become so flagrant that the church people are being urged to unite in prayer for those who are causing the suffering, as well as those who are suffering.

A crisis is at hand, for the authorities seem determined to exterminate every vestige of the church, it is asserted. Dr. John A. Morehead of New York City, who until recently was chairman of the National Lutheran council, is giving relief to many of the distressed of Europe since the World War and he sends out an appeal to the Lutheran pastors of America.

Sunday Day Of Prayer
"Lutheran congregations in the United Lutheran churches of America together with fellow believers in other parts of the world are hereby requested to offer special prayers for the Christians in Russia. Our brethren are under severe trials because of their persistence in the proclamation of the Gospel of Jesus Christ, strength to stand firmly against persecutions, and grace that will change the attitude of the civic authorities toward Christians in Russia, must come from God," is the appeal.

Pastors are earnestly asked to voice this appeal in their prayer on Sunday, March 2.

Actors Of Today Do Not Compare With Stars Of Years Ago, In Opinion Of Local Stage Veterans

"There are no outstanding actors or actresses nowadays. Forty years ago, stage performers were men and women of great ability, who were capable of fitting themselves into the roles of the different plays, but now, plays are written to fit the performers and no one takes the trouble to train and develop a real actor."

That is the opinion of Henry Belmar, a resident of New Castle, who has spent over 50 years of his life behind the footlights, and directing and producing both stage plays and motion picture dramas.

Mr. Belmar, with his wife, Laurel Love, who is in New Castle at the present time, have traveled from coast to coast with some of the best companies on the road. Mr. Belmar successfully played Shakespearean roles, wrote and produced a number of plays in New York City, wrote a book, built a motion picture studio in 1911, and directed a large number of feature pictures.

Miss Love, by her own efforts, on the stage and screen, made a name for herself. She had had several years stage experience before she met her husband. Miss Love had her first year's Shakespearean experience with E. H. Southern and Julie Marlowe, the first year those two immortal performers co-starred. The play was under the management of Charles Froman.

Although that was Laurel Love's first year taking Shakespearean roles, it was her second year with E. H. Southern.

"Shakespearean roles are difficult to enact, but that is not the only reason why there have been so few good Shakespearean actors. It is because, along with great acting ability, a character of one of Shakespeare's plays requires a powerful voice, a tall stature and a well built body." Laurel Love explained to the writer, Friday afternoon. "The modern type of in-genue is not suited for playing the type of characters portrayed by Shakespeare."

Then, Miss Love played with the famous Morosco stock company, in Los Angeles, with a group of outstanding artists. Jane Cowl, Emily Stevens, Marjorie Rambeau, Willard Mack and Dustin Farnum were visiting stars. In the regular stock company were Walter Catlett, who later became a famous folies comedian in New York City, and Edmund Lowe, now a Fox film star.

"Eddie Lowe, no matter how many times he was called to task about it, could never get to the theater for rehearsal, on time. Invariably, he was from 7 to 15 minutes late," according to Miss Love. "But he could give such good excuses and in such a charming manner that we all forgave him for keeping us waiting. He played very small parts and the manager often told him that he needed the rehearsal more than any of the members of the company, and that he would never make an actor if he would not get out of bed a little earlier in the morning. Eddie would agree absolutely with his superior and he promised faithfully to be on time the next day," Miss Love remarked, smiling.

"The late Avery Hopwood, well known for his many bed room farces and also as co-author of the mystery play, 'The Bat,' came to Morosco to produce his play entitled 'Sadie Love' when I was a member of the company.

One day, while rehearsing in 'Sadie Love' I jestingly remarked that Mr. Hopwood had named his play for me. To my amusement, some of the actors took me seriously, especially Edmund Lowe. Later that day a reporter called and while waiting in the 'green room' Eddie related the yarn with such credulity the reporter left, fully believing he had 'covered' the story. All this in spite of the fact that Eddie admitted he was a bit hazy as to the 'Sadie' part. The ar-

Striking Drivers Spurn Peace Move

Taxi-Strike In Pittsburgh Enters Eighth Week With No Agreement In Sight

UNANIMOUS VOTE TO CONTINUE STRIKE

(International News Service) PITTSBURGH, March 1.—Pittsburgh's taxi cab strike which has paralyzed the city's passenger service and has developed serious disorders and in one instance fatal rioting, ended its seventh week today with an amicable apparently as remote as when the drivers left their wheels.

By a crushing, almost unanimous vote, the striking drivers last night spurned peace overtures made by officials of the taxi companies and signified their intention to continue the strike until their demands for 40 per cent of the metered cab receipts and full recognition of their newly formed union are met.

The vote was 1153 to 1. Despite the fact that predictions had been freely made concerning the probability of a negative vote on the peace terms, the actual vote came as a shock to observers.

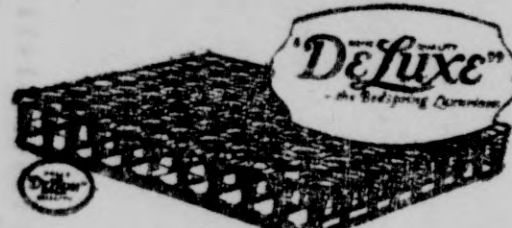

Meanwhile, new hope for an early settlement was held out by Miss M. Emmeline Pitt, Pittsburgh conciliator for the United States Department of Labor. Miss Pitt said she had a new plan which was to be submitted to the striking drivers today and to representatives of the cab company later.

Terms of the new plan were not divulged by the conciliator.

ELMER MOOTS ON HIS WAY TO BANK THE PROCEEDS FROM THE SALE OF HIS COW.

Elmer Moots sold his cow Wednesday at Constable Plum put the town under martial law till Elmer could get to the bank with the money. Talk about Paul Revere an' his famous ride! Yesterday an excited courier drove hurriedly through Bloom Center an' along the countryside to Apple Grove announcing that Bandit Moots had been paroled. O' course that meant hidin' all watches an' liberty bonds, an' the general cessation o' all business. Earthworks wuz thrown around the bank an' the greatest excitement prevailed. Foreign an' domestic bandits together have just about stripped Bloom Center. The town has long had an ordinance agin' carryin' firearms, an' today Constable Plum stopped the sale of all blunt instruments. There's gittin' to be somethin' creepy about the crime wave. Thugs an' holdups anen seem to know jest when some place o' business, or some lucky individual, has eight or nine dollars. Their calculations nearly allus are right. However, they failed in one instance. Tell Blinkley received a letter from a client, promisin' to send him $4.40.

an' as he stepped from the postoffice he wuz confronted by a long blue pistol. Fortunately, he'd left his fountain pen in the waistcoat of his dinner suit an' the bandit got nothin' fer his trouble. Late Bud has removed the runnin' boards from his car after two costly experiences. His wife, who choked on a large costume necklace between the garage an' the house, is still in a critical condition. Late is carryin' three Elk tooth charms in his stomach, an' only last week it took two doctors to remove a large huntin' case silver watch from his mouth, an' they had to pull his upper teeth to do it. Artie Small, o' the Elite Drug an' Boardin' House, has bought a new non-chatter diamond scarf pin after havin' been shot from under two others. A neat, apperlin' stranger approached Taxi Driver Laurel Mopes an' asked him to drive him to some place where he could buy a drink an' play some poker. As ther wuz nothin' unusual in the request Mops suspected nothin'. Yesterday a card wuz received from him mailed at Duluth, Minnesot.

askin' fer a suit o' clothes, an' car fare. Late, Pony Mops' daughter, thirty-eight, wuz abducted as she was returnin' from a contract bridge lesson at 3 a. m. but wuz dumped out in the snow after passin' the first lamp post. O' course lots o' crimes are not reported as the victims do not want any notoriety. Joe Kite's son fifteen, tied his father with barbed wire an' relieved him o' three dollars an' bought himself a pair of shoes. Two weeks later he stunned him with a book-end an' robbed him of $13, which he gave to his mother. Tilford Moots has gone back to a horse an' buggy after havin' five run-a-bouts stolen. A gang o' racketeers, supposedly belongin' to some notorious malt ring, took Grocer Wes Pusey fer a ride. Later his body wuz found out by the saw mill with a bottle cap over each eye. Little Annie May Lou, daughter o' Mr. an' Mrs. Leslie Moon, won the handsome ladies wrist watch by guessin' the exact number o' shot in Cashier Lie Tharp's body. Mr. Windsor Kale, who wuz next nearest has asked fer a recount.

Scott Stunkard Has Several Ancient Deeds

Scott Stunkard of East Brook district and on New Castle R. D. No. 9 is the possessor of five documents conveying property, one being the original patent or grant of land by the state of Pennsylvania and the other four deeds transferring all or part of this same land. It refers to lands in the possession of Mr. Stunkard at the present time.

All these documents are on sheepskin and several of them are written in long hand entirely. All are largely written by hand but one has some printing on. They are all in an excellent state of preservation.

The first of these documents is the original patent or grant to William Golding of Philadelphia, a drummer, it states in the late war (Revolutionary war) and for services rendered therein. It is a grant given and signed by Charles Biddle, vice-president of the Supreme Executive Council of Pennsylvania and is dated October 27, 1786. It transfers to him, his heirs or assigns forever, two hundred acres located in what was then a part of Westmoreland county, Pennsylvania.

The second of these documents is a deed dated October 30, 1786, three days after the issuing of the patent and transfers from William Golding to William Power, a farmer, the original grant of two hundred acres for the sum of thirty-seven pounds, current money, whatever that might have been at the time. The peculiar thing about this deed is the fact that apparently the original grant was issued in the wrong name, for the owner of the patent signs it "William Golden" not "William Golding" as specified in the patent and the deed itself.

The third document is dated November 6, 1786, and in this William Power transfers the two hundred acres to John Lecy.

The fourth document is issued in 1792, six years later and transfers 100 acres of the original grant from John Lecy (Lacey) to John Smith. The deed indicates that the land is now a part of Allegheny county.

The last of these documents is dated June 7, 1827, approximately thirty-five years later and transfers 100 acres of the original grant to William Golding from Robert Smith, an heir of John Smith and Sarah Smith, widow of John Smith, to John McVane.

The price mentioned in this transfer is $300.

amount given the boy is for the hospital bill. The jury took the case Thursday morning and did not reach an agreement until late that day. The amounts are a compromise verdict, it is said. Another trial will be asked, it is expected.

In the case in which John Yavorosky was plaintiff and Louis David defendant, the jury returned for the defendant. The action was an automobile damage suit growing out of an accident at Yankee Lake in 1929.

Tarring Party As Practical Joke Is Injurious To Man

Maryland Man Victim Of Practical Joke May Die From Severe Burns

(International News Service) ROCKVILLE, Md., March 1.—A tarring party, meant for a practical joke, may cause the death of one man and landed three others in jail here today. Samuel D. Owens, of Ethington is in a critical condition at a hospital and physicians said if he recovers he will be crippled for life.

Frank Price and Orbin and Oscar Seal, brothers, were the prisoners, told the police they had applied hot tar to Owens' face and neck. They were a joke. Before applying the tar they heated it and then held their victim down.

Doctors encountered great difficulty in removing the tar from Owens' body.

Braddock Man Has Narrow Escape As Machine Plunges

(International News Service) PITTSBURGH, Mar. 1.—Elmer Cramer, of 435 Price street, Braddock, narrowly escaped death or serious injury today when the automobile he was driving toppled over a 60-foot embankment, overturned twice on its descent and finally came to rest on a precarious perch on the ledge of a concrete wall above the Pennsylvania railroad tracks at the East end of Turtle Creek bridge.

Cramer was taken to the Turtle Creek police station and given first aid treatment by a physician. He was later able to return to his home. He suffered lacerations of the right knee, face and head.

Plan May Day Health Program

Meeting Held Last Night By Representatives Of Various Organizations

Meeting of the Health Committee of the Federation of Women's clubs, with representatives of the various clubs, and Parent-Teacher Associations and welfare nurses of the city was held in the Y. W. C. A. last night with about thirty in attendance.

Mrs. W. L. Campbell, chairman of the committee, presided and named various committees in connection with the proposed Pre-School Child Conference, which the Federation hopes to hold as a part of its May Day Health Program.

The meeting was featured by an open discussion as to the best ways and means of undertaking the proposed Pre-School Child Conference which has for its purpose the taking of a census of children of the preschool age, the examination of these children for possible defects that might interfere with their school life and suggesting to the parent the elimination of these defects before the child enters school.

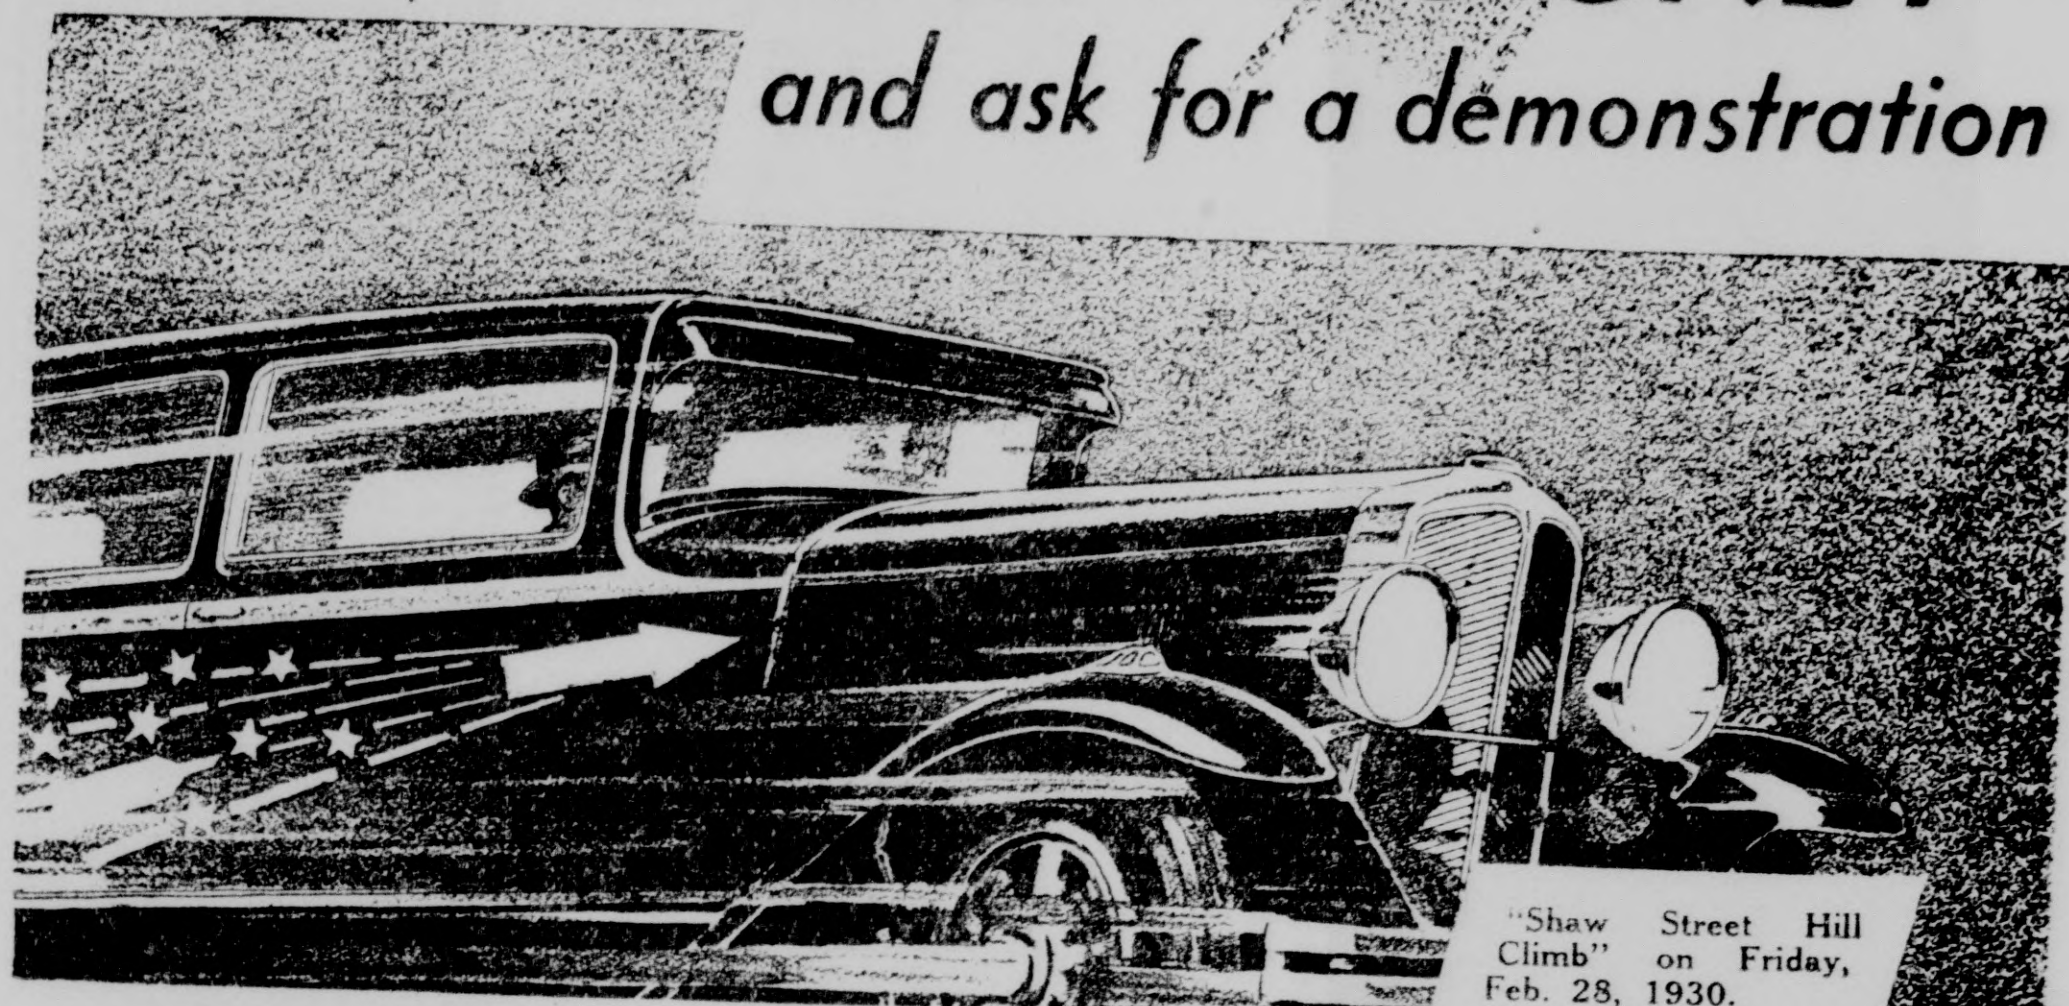

Purpose of the discussion and the appointment of committees was to determine how far the proposed work might be undertaken this year in this district.

In connection with the proposed Pre-School Child Conference, Mary Riggs Noble, M. D., chief of the Pre-School Division of the Department of Public Instruction in Pennsylvania, has consented to come here this month and address various civic organizations and clubs in the interest of the work. Dr. Noble is one of the recognized leaders in this work, being special agent of the Federal Child Bureau and State Chairman of the May Day Health Program.

WATCH for the car with the GOLDEN ROCKET and ask for a demonstration

"Shaw Street Hill Climb" on Friday, Feb. 28, 1930.

On the streets of this city today is the Oakland Eight demonstrator, marked on either side by a large GOLDEN ROCKET. The driver is ready to stop at your signal and give you a demonstration.

The GOLDEN ROCKET is a symbol of tremendous speed and power. And these are also outstanding characteristics of the New Oakland Eight. Its 85-horsepower eight-cylinder engine develops a full horsepower to every 37 pounds of car weight. That is why there are so few cars which can equal its remarkable speed, pass it on the hills, or match its acceleration in traffic. Watch it for a few minutes, and you will know why it is called "the car with superior performance."

You can get a demonstration—either by signalling the driver—or by coming to our showroom. We want you to learn that the New Oakland Eight is not only fast and powerful, but unusually smooth and easy to control. We want you to see its new, smartly styled bodies by Fisher. We want you to learn that General Motors' new eight offers a high degree of owner satisfaction at an extremely moderate price!

The New Oakland Eight, $1045 and up, f. o. b. Pontiac, Michigan, plus delivery charges. Lowery Hydraulic Shock Absorbers included in list prices. Bumpers, rear fender guards and spring covers extra. General Motors Time Payment Plan available at minimum rate.

Consider the delivered price as well as the list (f. o. b.) price when comparing automobiles. Values Oakland delivered prices include only authorized charge for freight and delivery and the charge for any additional accessories or financing desired.

A new Oakland Eight stock car made the following climb, with the driver and three passengers as official observers. These four men weighed 718 pounds. Starting in high gear at Highland and Falls streets, East on Falls to East street, North on East street to Shaw St., then East on Shaw St., finishing the Shaw St. hill in high gear at 11 miles per hour. In this way the New Oakland continues to build proof of its right to be called "the car with superior performance."

Claims Wife's Affections Stolen

Grove City Man Sues Alleged Liqueur Plot Victim For Alienation Of Affection

MERCER, Pa., March 1.—A suit to collect $20,000 charging alienation of the affections of his wife was filed here Friday by Kenneth Buchanan of Grove City. It is brought against Christ Page, Broad street restaurant keeper of the college town, who will be remembered as the recent victim of an alleged conspiracy plot on the part of three residents of that locality who are alleged to have planted liquor in his place.

In the bill of complaint it is claimed by Buchanan that a divorce is now pending between himself and his wife as a result of the stealing of the affections of his wife by Page. Stolen meetings and auto rides are a part of the courtship which Buchanan alleges.

A capias writ of ad respondentum is issued along with the suit. By virtue of the legal power of this instrument Page will be arrested and forced to furnish bail in the sum of $5,000. The proceeding is to guarantee his appearance at this hearings, attorneys say.

The papers in the suit are by far the most sensational filed here for some time.

DOGS QUARANTINED

Agent Harry Higbee of the state bureau of animal husbandry reports the quarantining of 60 dogs in the Sandy Lake district.

This is done to take care of any possible outbreak of an epidemic of rabies following the discovery of a mad dog in that locality last week when three persons were bitten, all reported recovering. A hog belonging to J. C. Williams is also under quarantine. Higbee will make an investigation of the Sheakleyville community today where the animal is said to have been at large before visiting Sandy Lake.

Have You Kept the Faith? Is Your Record O. K.?

If you are one of those fellows who have received the courtesy of a "charge account" and forgets to pay as agreed, there is a record on the files of the New Castle Credit Exchange that tells all about you.

If you pay your bills just as you agreed, this fact appears on your card also.

If your payments are always behind, that fact also appears. If telephone calls and bill collectors must be used to urge you to respond; if you ever give a check that is not backed by sufficient funds, your card tells the story.

Annual Show For Hospital Will Be Finest Ever

Arrangements Near Completion For Minstrel Show And Revue On March 13 And 14

FINEST TALENT IN CITY IS SECURED

Although almost two weeks remain before the annual minstrel show and revue is staged for the benefit of the Jameson Memorial hospital, the committee in charge of arrangements have the details well in hand, and indications point to one of the finest productions of its kind ever seen here.

Only the newest and most popular song hits will be heard in the show, and many novelty features which have never before been used even by professional organizations will be a part of this big extravaganza.

It will not be an amateur production in that sense of the word as all the principals have had considerable experience in theatrical work, many of them on the legitimate stage, and those who will attend will see a finished production. The experience gained in presenting the first show last year, has been used to good advantage by those in charge.

There will be one hundred people in the cast, including forty girls, a chorus of sixteen having been secured from the high school. It will be a veritable bazaar of pulchritude as all have been chosen for their ability to sing and dance, in addition to being most attractive.

Local merchants are assisting in advertising the production, while Fisher Brothers will aid by making the big drop curtain at their factory, the Buckeye garment plant.

Tickets are rapidly being sold for the event, and a great many blocks of 25 and 50 tickets have been sold to individuals.

Reservations will be started on March 6 at Snyder's piano store, and on Saturday, March 8, local Boy Scouts will deliver tickets requested by that date.

Early next week, a group of high school girls will begin calling local residents on the telephone, informing them of the coming production and bespeaking their interest and support, so that a great number of people will be acquainted with the fact that the show is being held and the purpose for which it is being given.

Advance indications point to a sell out on the two evenings of the show.

Woman Confesses Poisoning Husband

Iowa Woman Calmly Admits That She Gave Husband Poison "Was Tired Of Him"

(International News Service) ANAMOSA, Ia., Mar. 1.—Mrs. Hilda Miner, 34, has confessed that she was responsible for the death of her aged husband, Edward Miner, at Olin last Tuesday, according to County Attorney Clifford B. Paul.

Miner succumbed after eating sauerkraut in which a quantity of strychnine had been placed.

Paul announced today that a confession had been obtained from the woman by Ray Purcell and that it had been signed by Mrs. Miner.

The woman, the prosecutor said, did not confess to putting the poison in Miner's food but said she had removed medicine he had been taking from a number of capsules and substituted strychnine.

She also admitted, according to Paul, that she took some of the capsules early Wednesday morning for the purpose of committing suicide after her husband's death.

Albert Hartwig, 64-year-old wealthy widower and alleged lover of Mrs. Miner, who was arrested in connection with the murder last Wednesday, confessed to purchasing the strychnine at an Olin drugstore and sending it to Mrs. Miner through her 9-year-old son, Charles.

Federal Prisoners Relieved Of Dope

(International News Service) CLEVELAND, March 1.—Acting on a tip that drugs were being smuggled into the county jail here, Federal agents raided the bastille Friday and seized six Federal prisoners with quantities of morphine hidden in their clothing.

The prisoners were caught unaware by the Federal officers who segregated them without warning and searched them one by one. Enough dope was found secreted in the clothing of the prisoners to keep them supplied for more than a week, according to Arnold Lachenauer, narcotic agent for the district, who conducted the raid.

The dope was believed to have been smuggled to the prisoners in packages of cigarettes and by newsboys.

Foster's Weather Forecast

Foster's Weekly Weather Bulletin—7 WASHINGTON, Mar. 1, 1930.—

March is expected to start with a period of warm, dry weather; moderate storm wave, expected to cross continent during week centering on 3.

will occur during a period of moderate temperatures, averaging about normal, and below normal precipitation.

General increase in precipitation expected to occur in Great Central valleys this month will occur mostly during middle ten days of month; most precipitation will be expected to fall during northern cold waves, and southern cool waves centering on 13 and 18.

Storm wave expected to cross continent during week centering on 10 will be of mild intensity of force, but will be followed by a period of below normal temperatures and above normal precipitation. March 10 to 20 is expected to average below normal temperatures, but no unusually low temperatures will be expected. As an average of continent I advise that all planting and sowing be done as early as possible this season, expecting last half of season to be hot and dry, with excessive evaporation and storm force over a great part of North America.

Sunspots and Radio
A recent A. P. article states that radio reception will be expected to improve during 1930 and be much clearer during 1931, basing their beliefs on decrease of sunspots. Jupiter passes its node during 1930, but Saturn, a very powerful planet, does not pass its node until 1931. Jupiter and Saturn are traveling on opposite sides of the Sun at present, both near their nodes, making sunspots and radio troubles. I do not believe that sunspots nor radio troubles will decrease during 1930 nor 1931. Jupiter and Saturn are the two most powerful planets in our solar system; they are especially effective when near their nodes and when in opposition. The so-called eleven year sunspot cycle is governed almost entirely by Jupiter's nodes. Why should sunspots be expected to decrease and radio reception improve during the next year?

This A. P. article claims a fifteen month cycle of sunspots and states that the big eleven year cycle of sunspots has passed its peak. I believe the unusual positions of Jupiter and Saturn will cause sunspots to increase; radio reception to be less clear and storm force to increase during 1930 and 1931. When our most powerful planets arrive at their nodes, their influence travels direct, does not have to be bent to conform with Einstein's relativity. Let the next two years give their evidence and we will see whether Harlan T. Stetson knows his sunspots and radio reception. Radio reception will improve after 1931.

Willard Grange

March 25th the following program will be given on poultry. Roll call, my favorite breed of chicken and why. William Weigle will speak on Home incubator chicks vs. commercial chicks. A story by Howard White, a reading by Mrs. William Weigle, music by Josephine Munnell, a discussion, shall we house growing chicks in wire or tight wood houses—or shall we let them roost in the old apple tree. Thelma Dean and Mae Magee will give a clarinet and piano solo followed by a modern spelling bee.

Mrs. Magee was elected Queen for our May Festival. She chose as her attendants Thelma Dean and Marian Montgomery.

Racing result: Packards 295, Ford 900.

It may be all right to practice rotation in office for the French premiers, but just now the London conference views with some alarm the prospect of a dizzy pace in the Paris rotating.—The Asheville Times.

New York Clearing House Operator To Serve His Sentence

Playing Of Numbers On Clearing House Is Variation Of Old Fashioned "Lottery"

Man Wins Case In Superior Court Retrieving Engagement Ring From Deceased Fiance

(International News Service) PHILADELPHIA, March 1. — The so-called "number game," that is the placing of wagers on the New York Clearing House and the U. S. Treasury balance figures, is merely a variation of the old-fashioned "lottery" legislated against back in 1762 according to the decision of the state supreme court on file here today. The decision was handed down late yesterday by Judge Keller in sustaining the 11-months sentence and $500 fine imposed on Morris Banks of Germantown, for conducting a number lottery.

Another decision handed down by the higher courts during the day was the ruling in the superior court here that engagement gifts are conditional. In other words girls jilting their suitors must return engagement rings and such things or the donor may seek the value thereof in courts of law.

The decision was given in the case of Ernest Ruehling, fiance of Miss Pauline Horning, who died before their marriage could take place. Ruehling sued in the common pleas court here to recover $500 which was the value of the solitaire ring he gave Miss Horning in 1927. The superior court overruled the lower which had dismissed Ruehling's suit and ordered that the case be tried.

THE QUESTION BOX

CENTRAL PRESS WASHINGTON BUREAU

Answers to questions of information and fact can be obtained by writing to Central Press Bureau, P. O. Box 126, Washington, D. C., and enclosing a self-addressed, stamped envelope. No answers will be given to marital, medical or legal questions.

What is the Einstein theory? Some question—in five words; considering that Professor Einstein has been quoted to the effect that only 12 men in the world are advanced enough to understand his hypothesis. Nevertheless there is a compactly-ordered answer, once furnished by Dr. William Bowie, of the U. S. Coast and Geodetic Survey, one of today's foremost scientists—"The Einstein theory seems to be an attempt to express the universe in mathematical terms." Will that do?

Why is there no seventh overtone on a piano? Because a piano is so constructed that the hammer strikes the string exactly where it would vibrate for the seventh overtone. This arrangement is intentional, as that vibration would be inharmonious.

How much beer and wine can a person legally possess in the home under the prohibition law? Not a drop of beer or one-half of one per cent or more. Not a drop of wine if it is "intoxicating in fact." Cider and fruit juices are not necessarily limited to less than one-half of one per cent (beer is), but as soon as that limit is passed the possessor may be called on to convince a jury that they are not "intoxicating in fact." If he fails to do it, he is a lawbreaker.

What is the name of the philanthropic fund recently placed in the hands of ex-President Coolidge, Al Smith and Julius Rosenwald, and where may these three be addressed? The Hubert Fund. Coolidge, Northampton (Mass.). Smith, 331 Madison avenue, New York City. Rosenwald, 4901 Ellis avenue, Chicago.

How does Richard Byrd pronounce his name? The Byrds of Virginia, of whom the polar explorer is one, pronounce their name "Bird."

What United States Supreme court justice served longest? John Marshall, Joseph Story, Stephen J. Field and John M. Harlan each served 34 years.

Do peacocks lay eggs? If so, are they good layers? The female of the species, yes. Not the peacocks. The former are not prolific layers, the breed having been developed for ornament rather than for utility.

What representation has Pennsylvania in congress? Two senators and 36 representatives.

Peter's Adventures

WHY SPIDER NEVER TAKES A TUMBLE

The Katy Dids had been too tame to suit Peter. But the boy felt at once that he was going to like the trapeze performers. And sure enough, in a moment he was laughing himself silly over the antics of the Tumble Bugs.

"What a clown Pinch Bug is!" he cried. "Hi y! There he goes again. The harder that fellow tries to fly the harder he falls on the ground! I should think his fat head would be sore. He has bumped it so many times."

"Tumble Bug is always standing on his head when he should be on his feet," remarked Dragon-Fly. Many's the time I have stood and laughed at the awkward fellow until my wings were weak. Say, what's going on over there by the brook? The spiders are about to take to their trapezes or I'm much mistaken. Clever insects, those spiders! But, of course, there's this one thing about it—upside down or right side up, however high in the air they are, they are never in much danger."

"Why not?" asked Peter. "Couldn't a spider fall and break his neck the same as anyone else could?" "He could, but he wouldn't," Dragon-Fly chuckled. "You see boy, its like this—every spider builds his own trapeze and knows exactly how strong it is and whether or not it will hold him. What are you looking for, boy?" For Peter was staring straight up into the sky.

"I wondered what made a Spider's trapeze stay up?" answered Peter. "I don't see anything for it to hang from? Surely the air will not keep it up, will it?"

Dragon-Fly and Biffer came near to bursting their sides with laughter. "Oh ho. Ha, ha, hee! Fancy a Spider's trapeze hanging in midair from nothing! No indeed, young human. When a Spider spins he fastens the end of his thread to something. See that tight rope above Bumble Bee's head? It stretches from fern leaf to fern leaf. Hoop la! There comes the tight rope walker!"

Regrets Inability To Address Club

Time Of Arrival Prevents Legion Head From Appearing Before Lions

National Commander O. L. Bodenhamer of the American Legion, asked to address the New Castle Lions club at its regular weekly meeting next Tuesday, the day of his visit here, finds it impossible to accept, it was stated in a message from him Friday.

The Legion chief, who will be the principal speaker at a banquet in his honor at the Cathedral that same evening regrets the fact that he must turn the invitation down. He is a member of Lions International and an active leader in club work in the state of Arkansas from which he comes.

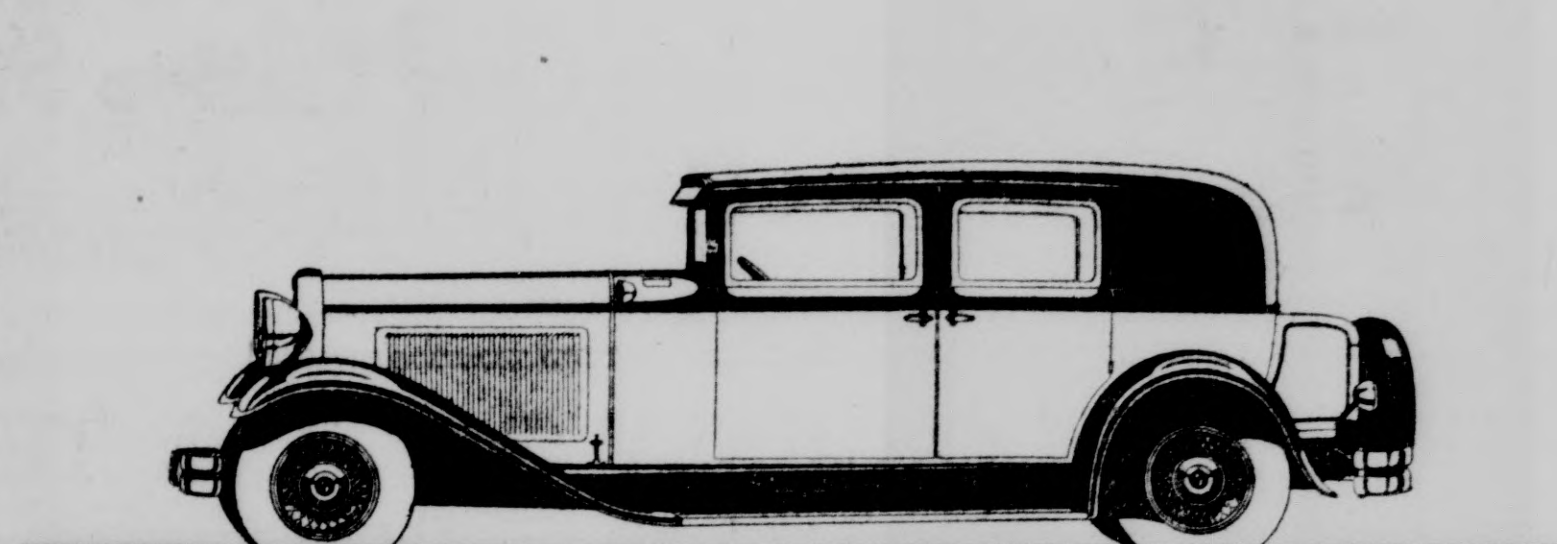

According to the commander's message he will not reach New Castle until 3:55 p. m., too late for the service club meeting. He comes here direct from Cleveland.

James Fucci, 162 Poplar street, Meadville, has been missing from her home for almost a week. In company with a girl friend, she attended a moving picture show on last Tuesday evening. After the performance, the girls separated in front of a store in the business section, and no word has been heard of the Fucci girl since. Relative and friends are at a loss to understand the disappearance, as she had no associates who would be likely to draw her away from home, nor any reason, so far as her family knew, to wish to leave. Meadville police, as well as officers throughout the section, have been notified of the disappearance and asked to keep watch for the missing girl. LIEF THE UNLUCKY "So you had a hard time ditching your friend Erikson?" asked the girl in blue of the descendant of the great Norse explorer's girl friend. "Yes," she curly-lipped, "he shook like a leaf." America In The 20th Century
The Great Coal Strike Of 1902

IN 1902 CAME THE GREAT COAL STRIKE IN THE ANTHRACITE FIELDS OF PENNSYLVANIA. THE MINERS STRUCK WHEN THE MINE OWNERS REFUSED THEIR DEMAND FOR HIGHER WAGES. NEITHER SIDE WOULD GIVE IN. AN APPARENTLY HOPELESS DEADLOCK ENSUED AND THE STRIKE DRAGGED ON FROM MAY UNTIL OCTOBER.

THE PRICE OF HARD COAL SOARED HIGHER AND HIGHER, AND THE PEOPLE WERE TERRIFIED AT THE PROSPECT OF A COAL FAMINE DURING THE WINTER. PRESIDENT ROOSEVELT FELT OBLIGED TO INTERVENE ON BEHALF OF THE PUBLIC, AND CALLED UPON THE MINERS AND OWNERS TO SUBMIT THEIR DISPUTE TO ARBITRATION.

THE MINE OWNERS OBJECTED TO PRESIDENTIAL INTERFERENCE AND HELD OUT. THE MINERS WERE DESPERATE, AND VIOLENCE WAS FEARED. PENNSYLVANIA TROOPS WERE CALLED OUT TO GUARD THE MINES. THEN PRESIDENT ROOSEVELT APPEALED TO THE BANKS FINANCING THE MINES TO USE THEIR INFLUENCE TO COMPEL THE MINE OWNERS TO CONSENT TO ARBITRATION.

FINALLY, THE MINE OWNERS YIELDED, AND A COMMITTEE OF ARBITRATION CHOSEN BY THE PRESIDENT EFFECTED A COMPROMISE. THE MINERS WENT BACK TO WORK, AND THE DANGER OF A COAL FAMINE PASSED. ROOSEVELT'S HANDLING OF THIS GRAVE SITUATION ADDED GREATLY TO HIS POPULARITY.

Ellwood High Noses Victory Over Five Alumni Stars Here

Blue And White Basketeers Battle Alumni Team With Resultant Score
Of 15-14

ELLWOOD CITY, March 1.—An array of blue and white stars gathered at the local gym Friday night to lose a contest when the Alumni and Ellwood high's basketeers clashed and the latter won by the small margin of 15 to 14. It was one of those kind of titles that kept the crowd on edge and it was anybody's game until the final whistle blew.

Coach Ingle's aggregation was clicking at a rapid pace and was forced to the limit to win the tilt. The former blue and white performers furnished plenty of opposition and made their presence felt by their flashy form. The Tubers earned a hard-fought battle and deserved to win.
Kings started the evening right by kicking the first pointer, giving his mates an early start. This small margin did not last long as Clyde soon evened up matters. Labate followed with another talk and Clyde annexed one point via the foul route as did Rossman just before the first period ended 5 to 3 in favor of the alumni.

Clyde continued his good work by sinking a goal in the early part of the second stanza. King added a single tally from the black line and Rossman followed with another. King and McKim then got together and caged a pair of markers, while the best the alumni could do was a foul made by Applebaum. This period ended with the Tubers leading 9-8.

Neither team scored for some time until Cloak slipped one through the hoop. A field goal by Latiano and a foul by Friedoff enabled the Alumni to spurt forward as the third stanza brought the count to 11-11.

Jim Fitzgerald broke the deadlock with a foul but Rossman set his mates ahead by tossing the leather through the hoop. Latiano scored the last marker for the alumni while Duddick came through with a goal and Rossman a foul to bring victory to the blue and white.

King played one of the best games of his career as he led the attack for the blue and white by way of caging three goals and collected one from the black line. McKim, Rossman and Duddick each contributed one marker.
Clyde and Latiano starred for the alumni aggregation, with both of them caging two field goals. These boys are popular members of the Shelby loop. Many of the others are also performers for this league.

The alumni used a flock of subs and one of the outstanding performers of the fray was Jim MacMurdo.

Lineup:
Ellwood City: King, F. Friedoff, McKim, Duddick, Latiano, Applebaum, P. Fitzgerald, Blandine, Blaine.
Alumni: Clyde, McKim, MacMurdo, Duddick, Latiano, Applebaum, P. Fitzgerald, Blandine, Blaine.

Field goals—King 1-2, Cloak 0-2, Rossman 2-3, Duddick 0-1, Clyde 1-1, Fried-off 1-2, Chambers 0-1, J. Fitzgerald
1-1, Latiano 0-1, Applebaum 1-1.
Referee—Westlake.

JAPAN WANTS KISSLESS HONOR

Patriots of Japan who wish to keep their country in its place in the world's spotlight are claiming that the anti-kissing crusade, which started in Russia and is spreading to other countries, is not new. They point out that for centuries kissing has been banned in their country, and the kiss still is in such disfavor that it cannot even be shown on the motion picture screen.

If they ever have a regular funeral for jazz we hope all the pallbearers will be crooning tenors.—Des Moines Tribune-Capital.

NEW YORK STOCKS

Moderate Upturn Of Stock Prices

(BULLETIN)
By W. S. COUSINS
International News Service Financial Editor

NEW YORK, Mar. 1.—A handful of active industrial and utility stocks held the spot-light in a moderate upturn of prices in the week-end market.

Radio Corporation sold fractionally above 50 for the first time since the break in November. Stocks of the amusement companies, including Loews and Warner Brothers, commanded a strong and active market.

Anacoda Copper, General Electric, Pacific Lighting, Brooklyn Union Gas, Standard Gas and International Nickel danced brilliantly on the tape in a series of short upward movements. The balance of the market was comparatively quiet, with the bulk of the active rail, steel, copper, oil, motor, equipment and manufacturing stocks traveling through narrow price ranges.

United States Steel, closed about a point higher, at 184, and General Electric gained 1/4 at 77, but Westinghouse closed with a fractional loss, at 187, and Bethlehem was unchanged at 100 1/2.

At its closing price of 50, Radio showed a net gain of 4 1/2 points, in its most active week of the year.

Stock sales on the big board today aggregated 1,806,700 shares, including the inactives.

Warns Motorists Of Deadly Fumes

Danger From Inhaling Gas From Exhaust Of Autos Stressed

HARRISBURG, March 1.—Dr. J. Bruce McCreary, deputy secretary of health, today warned motorists against the carbon monoxide hazard which thus far in Pennsylvania has taken its usual share of lives.

"Repeated warnings," said Doctor McCreary, "from the state health department and local health officials unfortunately do not seem to diminish the carbon monoxide deaths directly attributable to careless operation of automobiles in garages where doors are closed. A survey of the deaths from this cause in Pennsylvania this year proves beyond any doubt that carelessness in this important matter is as great as it has been in former years. If automobile owners could only be made to realize that the running of their engines in a closed garage is most hazardous, the present mortality rate from this cause could not only be diminished but absolutely eliminated. By its very character carbon monoxide gas is one of the most insidious and lethal gases known to chemistry. It is odorless and colorless, thus affecting its victims without their knowledge of its presence.

Mrs. E. F. Nehman of Zellenople is visiting with Mrs. Anna Bennett, of North Mill street.

New Procedure For Criminals Placed Before Commission

Drastic New Program For Criminal Procedure In Federal Courts Proposed

Move Made By Representative Christopherson Would Speed Up Court Cases

By WILLIAM S. NEAL
International News Service Staff

WASHINGTON, March 1.—A drastic new program revising criminal procedure in Federal courts to abridge jury trials was laid before the Wickersham law enforcement commission today by Rep. Charles A. Christopherson (R) of South Dakota as the commission's "juryless trial" plan of speeding prohibition cases.

Christopherson is chairman of the judiciary sub-committee investigating the commission's court reform bills. Although rejecting the commission's so-called "juryless trial" scheme, the Christopherson program is even more drastic, and is designed to eliminate jury trials in all minor cases through waiver of the accused.

The program also involves amendment of the Jones "Five and Ten" act through a bill introduced by Rep. Stobbs (R) of Massachusetts.

The Christopherson program provides: Classes as petty offenses those not involving moral turpitude for which the penalty is not over $500 fine or over six months imprisonment.

Permits district attorney to file complaint instead of grand jury indictment in such cases.

Give accused right of trial before U. S. commissioner or district court.

If he elects trial before a commissioner, it shall be considered a waiver of jury trial.

Sentence Without Jury
If he choose a commissioner's trial, the commissioner shall transmit a report to the Federal Judge with recommendations, and the judge imposes sentence without a jury finding.

While the commission's program provided for trial of prohibition cases only before U. S. commissioners, giving the accused three days after hearing to demand a trial by jury, the Christopherson plan includes all minor Federal offenses.

"I have submitted the bills to the Wickersham commission, and we probably will have a hearing on them within 10 days," said Christopherson.

"They provide that the accused in petty offenses could waive trial by jury. I think we could go further, under the constitution, and deny trial by jury in petty cases, but have not done so."

"The procedure is that used in most states for minor offenses, and is intended to reduce congestion in the Federal courts."

Just Among Us Girls

Commander Rosenthal of Perry 3, Gaston post announced this morning, that through the courtesy of Robert C. Love, an office had been provided in which to carry on this work, he having donated free of cost the use of room 203 in the Greer building, North Mercer street.

The office will be fixed up sufficiently so that the proposed work may be carried on in an intelligent manner and with efficiency and it is hoped to have it opened and going strong by Tuesday.

John H. Fullerton, named by Dr. Rosenthal as supervisor of employment for former service men, will be in charge of the office and announced today that when opened it is proposed to receive applications of all former service men in need of employment, also a record of those local industries and individuals who may desire the services of men such as the Legion employment agency may be able to provide.

It is hoped that all industries, business houses and individuals that will have work of any kind will get in touch with Mr. Fullerton when the office opens, so that there will be as little delay as possible in providing work for those who need it. This employment will include spring house-cleaning work and it is hoped that considerable work along this line may be provided.

BAD SIDEWALK
Complaint was made to the police Friday concerning a bad place in the sidewalk in front of 1209 South Mill street. There is a steel manhole in the center of the sidewalk and the concrete has given away about it, making quite a good sized hole, which is dangerous to pedestrians.

It is hoped that all industries, business houses and individuals that will have work of any kind will get in touch with Mr. Fullerton when the office opens, so that there will be as little delay as possible in providing work for those who need it. This employment will include spring house-cleaning work and it is hoped that considerable work along this line may be provided.

Coalition Forces Defeat Of Plan For Higher Duty On Oil

Two Major Victories Scored
By Democratic-In-Surgent
Coalition In Senate

SEE THIRD DEFEAT FOR SUGAR INCREASE

(International News Service)
WASHINGTON, March 1.—Two major victories behind it, a well-oiled and organized Democratic-Republican Insurgent Coalition in the Senate today was driving forward to what leaders predicted would be a third-defeat of the movement of Republicans to impose a higher tariff on sugar.

The coalition at a late session last night crushed opposition forces and forced a 39 to 27 vote against the drive for a duty on oil. Two days ago it succeeded in preventing imposition of a tariff on lumber.

In the Senate and before the senate lobby investigation committee during the day, proponents of the oil duty were under constant fire, charged with conducting an "extravagant, ruthless" lobby for an oil tariff. When the vote came seventeen Republicans joined 22 Democrats to defeat the oil tariff, proposed by Senator Thomas (D) of Oklahoma. The Oklahoma had sponsored an amendment to place a duty of $1 a barrel on crude oil and 50 per cent ad valorem on gasoline and other petroleum products.

Led by Senators Norris (R) of Nebraska, insurgent chief, and Senator Blaine (R) of Wisconsin, another insurgent, a searing attack on supporters of the oil tariff was launched in the senate just before the vote, and culminated in Norris' direction attention to West Franklin, president of the Independent Oil Producers' association, sitting in the senate galleries, as "the head and shoulders of this lobby."

Contestants of six high schools in the county will compete at New Wilmington next Tuesday evening in a musical contest. The instruments are flute, violin, horn and saxophone. Schools to be represented are Bessemer, Union, East Brook, Shenango, Mt. Jackson and New Wilmington.

On March 14th there will be an oratorical and chorus contest at Wampum in which the school to be represented will be, Eron, Wampum, Princeton, Harlansburg, Volant and East Brook.

On March 26 a big contest will be held at Mt. Jackson. Orations and boys' and girls' solos will be rendered. It is for all the high schools of the county, and it is expected that around 600 will compete.

Repeat Success Of Play Friday

"Her Husband's Wife" Is Presented Again By Cast In Clever Manner

Those lovers of the drama who like their entertainment sprinkled with laughs, got two hours enjoyment Friday evening when for the second time "Her Husband's Wife" was presented in the basement of Trinity church under the auspices of the Men's Club of that church.

The play was well presented by local talent, many of whom have had much experience in other years. The cast of the play included:

Richard Belden—Gunnar Swanson.
Nora—Mrs. H. LeRoy Shoaff.
John Belden—D. M. Arnold.
Stuart Randolph—H. J. Culliford.

With the ticket sale discontinued several days ago, the attendance at the annual St. David's banquet this evening in the Central Christian church promises to be large.

The banquet this evening is an annual affair which is held in every community in which there are people of Welsh extraction. Evan Hopkins is the toastmaster of the evening and has a long program of interest to announce. Rev. Rees T. Williams is the main speaker of the evening.

The banquet is under the auspices of the Star of Wales lodge, True Ivories of America and the Martha lodge.

The Parent Problem by GARRY C. MYERS, Ph.D.

Expert Asks Suggestions For Column

Not many years ago we used to sing "O Where is My Wandering Boy Tonight?", with a mixture of emotions—sorry for the lad and hopeful that the Father-of-us-all would bring him home a new creature. We were willing to "cast our burdens upon the Lord," and dismiss from our minds our own responsibilities for the wandering boy.

We are not less religious today but some of us are, perhaps, a little more practical. With Mr. Franklin we are wont to believe that "Heaven helps them that help themselves." We want to discover ways and means of keeping our boy from being a wanderer. Some of us are at times overwhelmed by our task and some of us, indeed, have grown over-conscientious and have been a little too hard on ourselves.

Parents who take the trouble to read this column don't need scolding. Many of you need encouragement. You are seeking earnestly for guidance and your humble servant takes upon himself a tremendous responsibility when he presumes to offer guidance even in his frail way. Many of you are thinking of your children and of your relations to them as you have never thought before, and even as few others have so thought.

You are reading books on child development and parental guidance. You are attending lectures and child study-group discussions. In your P. T. A., or club, or church you are engaged in serious study of the problems of the modern parent. Some of you may, indeed, be going to school again to learn more about your child and your family relationships, or you may be taking college courses, to enrich your mind and personality so that you can become more interesting and intellectually stimulating to your family group.

AMOS 'N' ANDY IN REAL LIFE
Amos 'n' Andy of the radio, in real life are Freeman F. Gosden and Charles J. Correll. Despite the fact that millions of fans from the Atlantic to the Pacific tune in every night to listen to the recital of the affairs of The Fresh Air Taxi Co., Mrs. Queen and King Fish, Amos 'n' Andy could stand at midday on the busiest corner in New York or Chicago and not get a tumble. America knows them as two drawing, disembodied voices.

M. H. Aylesworth, president of the National Broadcasting Co., was attending a Chamber of Commerce luncheon in Chicago recently and after suitable discussion of the dangers anyone ran by walking unattended into the home of the Big Croak and Shoot Men, introduced his bodyguard—two well tailored young men, and gave them their proper names, Gosden and Correll.

There was a polite air of bewilderment among the gathering of Chicago business men. They didn't get it. Then one of the immaculate "bodyguards" drawled "Now, look y'eah, Amos . . ." and in an instant the Chamber of Commerce had snapped to attention and were drowning out the voices of the speakers in a thunder of applause.

Gosden is Amos. He is thirty years old, was born in Richmond and is fond of loud ties. Correll is Andy. He's about Gosden's age, hails from Peoria, Ill. and learned back - talk from his partner.

ROAMING With Richards

Some News, Some Views, But Mostly Just Observations Of Interesting Things Around New Castle

Basketball went out in a blaze of glory at New Wilmington last night and the old grads of Westminster who came back to see the traditional "battle of the year" with Grove City must have gone home feeling that the country was safe once again.

The crowd in that gymnasium was probably the largest crowd ever inside, and as large as it was for the Duquesne game, last night's crowd passed that by a couple of hundred. It marked the close, insofar as home games are concerned, of a real bang-up season.

Just in case you might pass the day by without recognition, know that this is St. David's Day, and all those lads and lasses whose ancestry runs back to that little principality called Wales, are celebrating the day.

Tonight is the real celebration with a banquet and a lot of singing. Oh a lot of it. It couldn't be a Welsh banquet without a lot of singing and tonight's affair will be no different than any other.

Seems odd but a Welshman sings with or without provocation. When he's warm he sings to cool off, and when he's cold he sings to keep warm. Hungry or thirsty, rich or poor, singing is the accompaniment for his every mood, and customers, when you get a couple of hundred of them together at a banquet, the beams aren't safe for the column of sound.

It's an old Welsh custom.

Today is the last day of the automobile show and if you haven't seen it, better get up and take a look. The commercial display is worth a look, and you'll want to see all the new models of cars. Whether you buy or not, you can try out some of the smack dab upholstery the new cars are sporting.

In like a lamb, out like a lion if you want to take the old axiom for your sign post of the weather. March certainly came in like a lamb, and if it goes out in direct reverse, what a picnic we're going to have.

There isn't a prettier alibi for being late in the morning than a flat tire. As an alibi it has most everything else licked to a cinder. And this morning was the morning for mine.

There are some banquets which need a lot of selling, to be put over. The annual American Legion banquet isn't one of these. With the banquet not scheduled until next Tuesday evening, the ticket sale has been stopped, with the total running around 1700 now.

Petition Presented To Stay Judgment

In the case of the Home Protective Savings and Loan Association against Patsy Ann Woodson and Jas. Woodson, a petition to stay writ was filed at court this morning. It is claimed that the defendants gave the plaintiff a mortgage for $1800 on property on the sixth ward and that plaintiffs have confessed judgment on the bond. It is alleged by defendants that they do not owe the plaintiffs anything, as all dues have been paid in advance to the amount of $410.17. A hearing will be held.

Motion Is Made To Quash Indictment

Motion was presented to court this morning to squash an indictment against Fred Chestnut and James Oakes, Jr., on the grounds of defects in an indictment in which a charge of being suspicious persons had been made. A rule was issued on the district attorney to show cause why the indictment should not be squashed. A hearing will be held later.

Its age is a private matter

It is very difficult to discover, by its appearance, how old a Lincoln is. Lincoln believes in making automobiles so beautiful that they are always modern — so durable that they simply won't wear out. The age of a Lincoln is no one's concern—least of all its owner's. On the boulevard a Lincoln of last season and the newest model share honors equally with Lincolns years older than either.

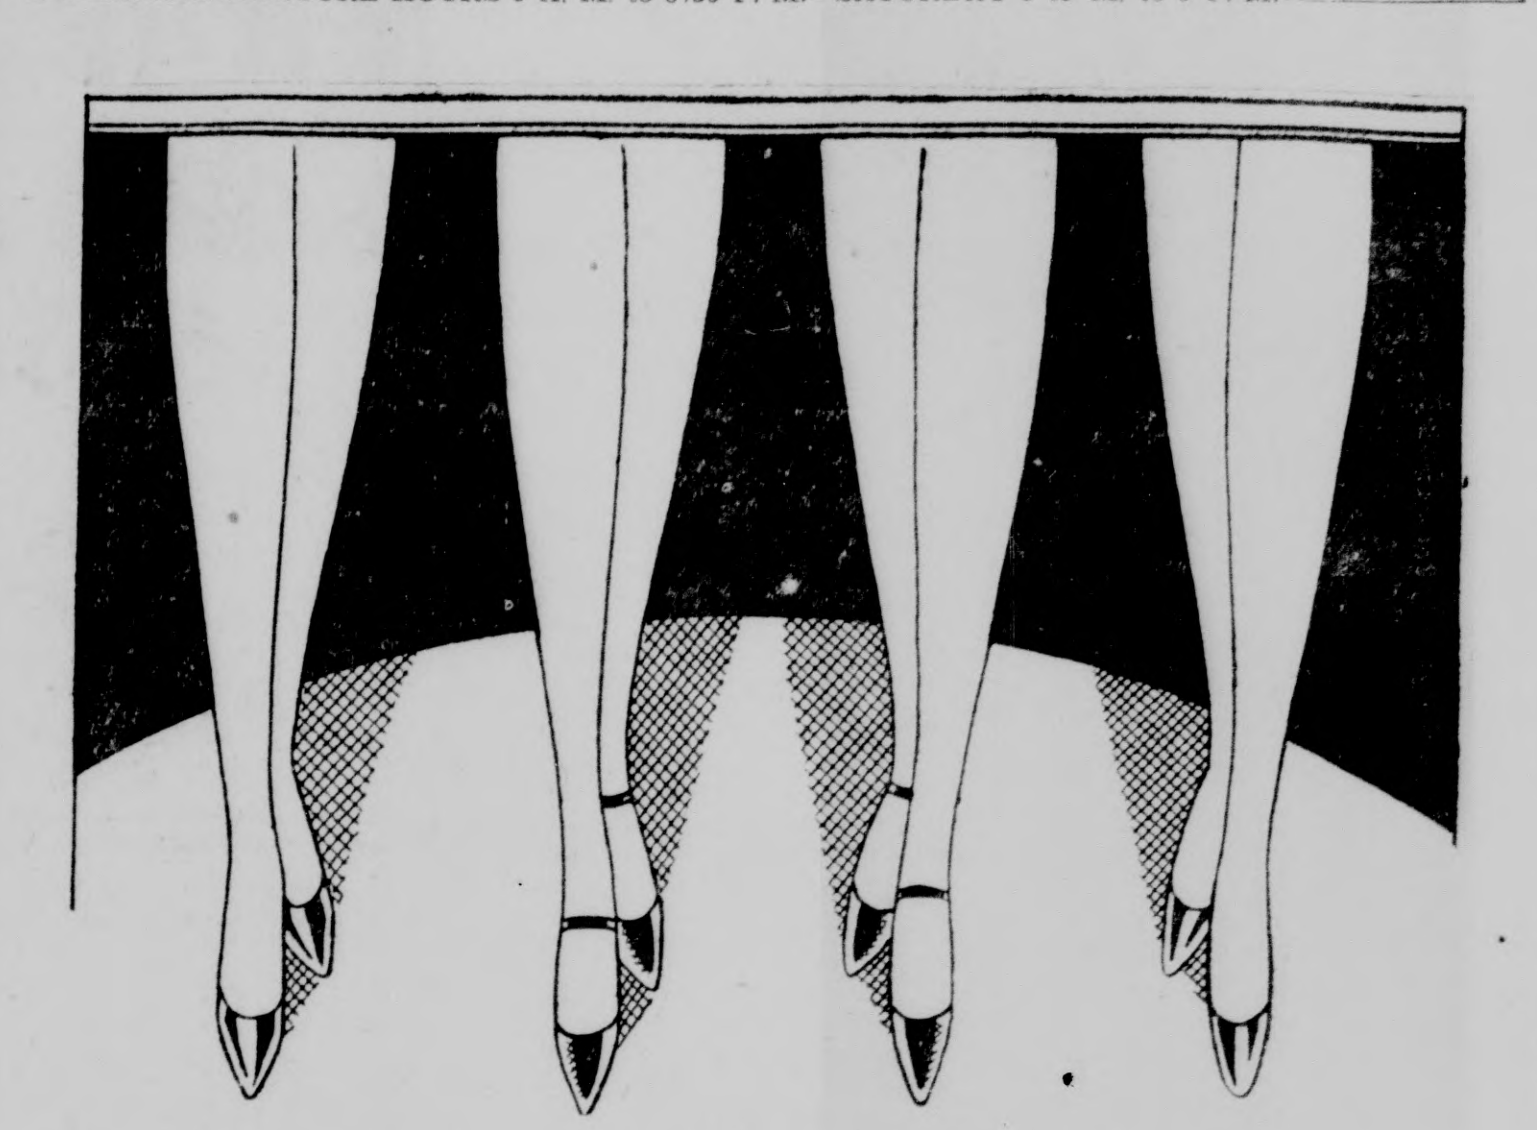

So fine is this car that a year or so of use does not perceptibly detract from any of its splendid qualities. Lincoln owners are often men who can, and do, provide the best professional care for their cars. Sometimes such well-kept cars are available at very attractive prices from Lincoln dealers. The wisdom of investing in such a motor car is quite evident, and shrewd buyers are quick to take advantage of the opportunity.

A few such Lincolns are now to be seen on our floor. Every one is in perfect mechanical condition. We are always glad to demonstrate them to you, without the slightest obligation. Drop in today.

Reeves Responds To Fire Alarm

Clayton Reeves, councilman had his first experience in responding to a fire alarm yesterday, and according to observers he did very well.

Reeves was on the job almost as quickly as the firemen.
